

Meds for the Hypocrite

Red Line Chemistry

No longer am I waiting
On such uncertainty
I'm not putting my effort into
Something you'd take right from me

This time the pain is coming
The more lies that I'm discovering
Your logic I don't understand

Tell me why
It's always all about you
Always all about you
All the time

You always run away
From what you wanna say

There's no point in tolerating
Your insincerity
You've no intention of ever changing
So on the record, fuck you!

This time the change is coming
The more lies that I'm uncovering
You'll learn exactly where I stand

Tell me why
It's always all about you
Always all about you
All the time

Tell me why
It's always all about you
Always all about you
All the time

Tell me why
It's always all about you
Always all about you
All the time

Tell me why
It's always all about you
Always all about you
All the time (All the time!)

Tell me why
It's always all about you
Always all about you
All the time

Tell me why
It's always all about you
Always all about you
All the time

You always run away

From what you wanna say
You always run away
From what you wanna say
You always run away (run away)
From what you wanna say (what you wanna say)
You always run away (you always run away)
From what you wanna say to me!

You always run away
From what you wanna say