

Concrete Heart

Red Wanting Blue

When the sun goes down, what's left?
Nothing but the night.
So insincere, you know she'll never take you to heart.
Well, she can throw me to the left
And kick me to the right cause there ain't no way she's ever gonna break my concrete heart.

Oh... you know I wanna take you home
Oh... don't make me beg no more
Oh... we've still got time to spend
Oh... and then she changed her mind... she changed her mind

When I call her, will she come now
Or will she run and hide?
What makes you think she's ever gonna take you to heart?
Did I ever win her? She's here but she's not mine
And it tears me up to think about these days that we are apart

Just like that, she changed her mind, yeah
When the sun goes down, what's left?
Nothing but the night
So insincere, you know she'll never take you to heart
Did I ever win her? She's here but she's not mine
And it tears me up to think about these days that we are apart

No, you're never gonna break my heart
No, you're never gonna break my concrete heart
No, you're never gonna break my heart
No, you're never gonna break it.