

Chant: 13th Hour

Redbone

Will you be counted when the roll call comes?
Will you be counted when the roll call comes?
Spread your wings and fly, the future's ours
The masters of your own domain in the thirteenth hour
Give peace a holiday and time to grow

Give us just a little more time
Give us just a little more time
Give us just a little more time
Give us just a little more time

Number thirteen give a man his dream
Number thirteen give a man his dream

Late night blooming blossom like a flower
In the thirteenth hour
'Til the thirteenth hour
Give peace a holiday and time to grow

Give us just a little more time
Give us just a little more time
Give us just a little more time
Give us just a little more time

Will you be counted when the roll call comes?
Will you be counted when the roll call comes?
Will you be counted when the roll call comes?
Will you be counted when the roll call comes?