

Minute On Fire

RedHook

There is a shadow that hides in the walls
It's there everyday waiting to strangle us all
You might not see it coming, in fact you usually won't
And you hope that it'll unwrap its hands from your throat

Sometimes the days just drift away
Sometimes it's hard to see the way
Through all the noise, through all the waste...
And that's the way we burn

Wake up
I'm burning alive
Cause it's like a killing desire
So messed up
You'd trade your whole life
For a fucking minute on fire

There's a black cat staring back at me
Every time I look outside
I don't know his agenda but I tend
To be reminded of mistakes I've made
They play on a loop in my mind
But what business does an animal without a soul
Have to concern itself with mine?

Sometimes the days just drift away
Sometimes it's hard to see the way
And I know I could save today or Go insane today, I guess I'll never learn
And when I try a voice inside's
Always screaming "Fuck it, watch me burn!"

Wake up
I'm burning alive
Cause it's like a killing desire
So messed up
You'd trade your whole life
For a fucking minute on fire

You'll never know
You'll never know
How far you'll go
Until you're right on the verge
And end up cutting the wire
For a minute on fire

Wake up
I'm burning alive
Cause it's like a killing desire
So messed up
You'd trade your whole life
For a fucking minute on fire

You'll never know
You'll never know
How far you'll go
Until you're right on the verge

And end up cutting the wire
For a minute on fire
