Malfire

Refused

The wolves are at the door
Forever and ever more
A nightmare that we've lived before
The wolves are at the door

The day they came they took it all
A people robbed, their future gone
A toxic state; we watched it roll
That downward slope like ancient Rome

The towers falling
Down down down
A path of no escape

The wolves are at the door
And they've made us look before

They came in boats, they came on land
Alone and scared with empty hands
The founding thought: come if you can
Your tired, poor, your huddled mass
In grand old eyes a life reviled
Becomes a threat, a parasite

The wolves are at the door
Forever and ever more
It's a different type of war
When the wolves are at the door
