

Don't Make Me

Rehasher

Another day, lacking some definition
Can anyone remind me what were my intentions
Some people say, it's best to be dependent
Much easier to just lay low and stay suspended

Night after night, what I'm feeling ain't right
But I'm too lame to fight it anymore
There's too much stop and go
Never stay with the flow
Can we just hang it up or
Chalk it up to bad luck I'm asking

Don't make me stop what I'm searching for
Don't make me quit holding out for more
Don't make me stop looking for a reason
Just help me stand up and keep believing

It's right as rain, maybe that's your impression
But what it's done to me has Pushed me in regression

I've given up, settled for second best and Turned my back on any faith in people spending

Night after night, what I'm feeling ain't right
But I'm too sick to fight it anymore
There's too much "I don't know"
Should I stay should I go
Can we just hang it up and
Chalk it up to bad luck I'm asking

Don't make me stop what I'm searching for
Don't make me quit holding out for more
Don't make me stop looking for a reason
Just help me stand up and keep believing

Don't make me stop what I'm searching for
Don't make me quit holding out for more
Don't make me stop looking for a reason
Just help me stand up and keep believing