

What You're Seeking

Rehasher

So now the past is gone
Living ceases, fall to pieces
I thought I was someone
Empty spaces frozen faces

How can I just go on?
Parts of me have hit the ending now
I'll make it through somehow
Without a doubt

'Cause I still know what's right
More than anyone just spend another night
Hoping maybe I can burn out all those lights
That may be blinding me, so bright that
I can't see who I'm supposed to be

Go now and run away
Self extraction, chain reaction
Look for another day
Watch the warming glow of fiction

Time tends to waste away
Gotta find my inspiration now
And make it through somehow
Without a doubt

'Cause I still know what's right
More than anyone just spend another night
Hoping maybe I can burn out all those lights
That may be blinding me, so bright that
I can't see who I'm supposed to be

Don't stare into the sun, same goes for everyone
'Cause what you're seeking's not there
It's not there

Gotta find my motivation now
And make it through somehow
Without a doubt
'Cause I still know what's right
More than anyone just spend another night
Hoping maybe I can find my strength and fight
What's been blinding me
And burn out all those lights, so bright that
I can't see who I'm supposed to be