Jane Remover

The things I'd do to get a good night's sleep
It won't add up to things that you'd say to me
So I'd try every night to clear things out my head
And if it doesn't work, I'd blame it all on my own bed
(Bed, bed, bed, bed)

The things I'd do to get a good night's sleep
It won't add up to things that you'd say to me
So I'd try every night to clear things out my head
To clear things out my head, to clear things out

Oh, when's the next time that a superhero saves my town?
'Cause I've been falling for quite a while now
So, I gotta make the best of my aching
Oh, how I lie in bed and feel like dying

(It's all fun and games 'till you're star of the show)
(A brave man once told me that I should go)
Go!

Oh, how I lie in bed and feel like dying
Oh, how I lie in bed and feel like dying, die, die, die
Oh, how I lie in bed and feel like dying
Oh, how I lie in bed and feel like dying

Put on my best clothes, I'm going out today
It's nothing so special
One vessel, one body, neglect it, I'm sorry
I'll take better care of myself, pretend some more
