

Endless

Rence

(Every day, every day)
(Every day, every day like we endless)

Staring through the TV screen
Reaching for a tray to ash
Candle in the limousine
Bet you that she still gets sad
I've been in my memories
Jealous of the life I had
Back when I was seventeen

Always thought that I would end up like
Someone from a movie where they clap at the end
'Cause everything had happened just according to plan
I've been chasing that shit like again and again and again
(Every day, every day like we endless)

Do you ever wonder about
How come, how come you can't figure it out
Every day, every day like we endless
Every day, every day like we endless
Do you ever struggle to ask
I changed, shit changed, let's just leave it at that
Every day, every day like we endless
Every day, every day like we endless

Maybe it's the way when the sun goes down
And I catch myself in a spiral
Out of control like the waves, hit the shore
And I'm still never sure if I'm fit for survival
It all falls down, down, down anyway, anyway

Never thought that I would end up like
Someone from a movie where they cry at the end
Cause everybody knew it could've happened to them
They just keep on watching it again and again and again
(Every day, every day like we endless)

Do you ever wonder about
How come, how come you can't figure it out
Every day, every day like we endless
Every day, every day like we endless
Do you ever struggle to ask
I changed, shit changed, let's just leave it at that
Every day, every day like we endless
Every day, every day like we endless

I try
Always seems so endless from the outside, ah
And I cry
Always seems so endless on the inside, ah ah
Every day, every day
Every day, every day
Every day, every day
Every day, every day like we endless

Do you ever wonder about

How come, how come you can't figure it out
Every day, every day like we endless
Every day, every day like we endless
Do you ever struggle to ask
I changed, shit changed, let's just leave it at that
Every day, every day like we endless
Every day, every day like we endless