Heaven Knows
Heaven Knows
Heaven Knows
Heaven Knows
Heaven Knows

Heaven Knows
Heaven Knows
Heaven Knows
Heaven Knows

Petrify me
And tell me truth so I can feel your weight
Ooh ooh
'Cause there's a world beside me and I can feel it running through my veins
And say you're sorry and tell me why you left this place
I called your name and you replied with silence
It had me sleepless 'till the morning came

Wondering if I am the special one
Or if I'm just that
I'm falling slow through space
I need to know if I'm your only sun
Or if I'm connected through with everything
'Cause I can feel it in the morning sun
And I can see it on my mindless face
Something bigger here that's going on
'Cause there's this energy I can't explain

Heaven Knows
Heaven Knows
Heaven Knows
Heaven Knows
Heaven Knows

Toes deep in that sand
Watch that pink flamingo flow
With that pink cocktail in my hand
Moving fast but sipping slow
I got some questions 'bout the cosmos
That hemos probably doesn't know
So I'm still knocking on the door
But no one seems to be at home
And no ones answering me either
How should I be a believer?
Well It took some time to tell
I had to take it on my self
If you know love then you can leave
If you don't, I don't need your help
'Cause I got people with me now
That don't need nothing else

And they told me you'll do no wrong
But I've had these questions all along
So say your sorry for all you've done
And I'll try to be what I've become

And they told me you'll do no wrong
But I've had these questions all along
So say your sorry for all you've done
And I'll try to be what I've become
