

Emmanuel, You're One Of Us

Rend Collective

It just doesn't feel like Christmas at all
It's so hard to forget about all that went on
Some friends lost their jobs and some family too
Some people said it was all down to you

But I know Emmanuel, you're one of us
You left your throne to wear our scars
Though Christmas lights may lose their spark
And winter's cold may break our hearts
Oh Christmas means, Emmanuel you're one of us

Maybe it is Christmas time after all
The carols are soaring, the fire's roaring on
This year's had its trials, but sweet mercies too
Glad tidings of joy and they're all down to You

I know Emmanuel, you're one of us
You left your throne to wear our scars
Though Christmas lights may lose their spark
And winter's cold may break our hearts
Oh Christmas means, Emmanuel you're one of us

So sister and brother
Be kind to each other
We've all had a journey
Our own path to wander
The light will come
Just know you're not alone

So sister and brother
Be kind to each other
We've all had a journey
Our own path to wander
The light will come
Just know you're not alone

So sister and brother
Be kind to each other
We've all had a journey
Our own path to wander
The light will come
Just know you're not alone

I know Emmanuel, you're one of us
You left your throne to wear our scars
Though Christmas lights may lose their spark
And winter's cold may break our hearts
Oh Christmas means, Emmanuel you're one of us

Oh Christmas means, Emmanuel you're one of us
