

What Goes Around

Reverend and the Makers

You're in your universe, I won't need to bother
Trying to find the words, I know you'll discover
It's somewhere on the way, mind that you don't fall
Go on and have your cake and eat it and all

What goes around my friend, is coming round again
What goes around my friend, is coming round again

Provide your alibis, and make them all pretend
We know that you would lie, to further your own ends
If it's all been decided by forces beside us there's nothing th at I can do
You're in your universe

What goes around my friend, is coming round again
What goes around my friend, is coming round again

What goes around my friend, is coming round again
What goes around my friend, is coming round again