Yeah, look, I wish you well
Had to let you go, I guess it's a farewell
Yeah, we've been on the up, it feel like a stairwell
Brothers looking down on the city, this shit a fairytale
Yeah, you did me wrong, I remember very well
But it always comes back around, that shit a carousel
Yeah, hop on a beat then I parasail
Then I hop on a flight, then take it everywhere
Counting my money, counting my blessings
Put up a front like I wasn't stressing
All of the times I cried in the Tesla
All of the times I ain't break down, ain't fold under that pressure
Too many people leaning on me, nigga never (yeah)
Diamonds on my brain, I got gold, I got treasures (yeah)
Remember the days I used to hide xans in the dresser (yeah)
Wanted to be happy but happiness took effort
I seen my niggas and my momma on the stretcher

We all battling the obstacles in life, and I know it go, we just tryna live
But to me what separates the good from great is just the way you choose to handle it

Aye, and still I wish you well
Me and Ari haven't talked about getting rich as hell
If Gabby want a purse, I'ma go buy her a bag
But she 'gon rock the tailfeather before she wear Chanel
She was right there by my side, my boy ain't never fail
Words of advice when we was hiking through them biking trails
Find you somebody whose down to hold you accountable
And rather than go back and forth with you, be understandable (yeah)
I don't see talent I see intangibles
I dream big, bruh, I'm tired of being rational (Yeah, look)
I've been gem-dropping, this shit valuable
Now I might start Cali wildfires, bitch I'm flammable
This ain't Game of Thrones, my boy, I never bent the knee
All I see is legs and so I don't ever see defeat
Running at the plate and wipe the dirt off of my cleats
Battling these demons damn near turned me to a king, oh, nah

We all battling the obstacles in life, and I know it go, it is challenging
But to me what separates the good from great is just the way you choose to handle it
