

Thank You (4:18)

Rexx Life Raj

Thank you for loving me when I was stubborn
Finding the layers that were undiscovered
I know I work your nerves, I be doing numbers
But thank you for loving me still
I've never had nothing so real
Thank you for loving me still
I've never had nothing so real, so real

Sometimes I be moody
Lately it's been hell a call of duty
You always find a way to check up on me
Sometimes I feel like you seeing through me
I've had issues being open
You helped to make it better
22 M street, we look out over the weather
Look at the city, look at how far you've come
You need more praise for the things you've done, done, oh, yeah

Thank you for loving me while on your journey
Thank you for taking all your time in earnin' me
'Cause sometimes I feel undeserving
But thank you for loving me still
I've never had nothing so real
Thank you for loving me still
I've never had nothing so real, so real

Learning to love you right
You taught me loving life
When all this shit is done we'll hope a flight
Straight to Japan like we said we would
I trust you with my life
I trust you as my wife
We'll have some kids and raise 'em right
Just like we said we would

Thank you for loving me through all the stresses
Thank you for being my angel, for being my blessing
I know it took me a while to learn my lesson
But thank you for loving me still
I've never had nothing so real
Thank you for loving me still
I've never had nothing so real, so real

I'm thankful for you
So thankful for you
I'm thankful for you
I've never had nothing so real
I'm thankful for you
So thankful for you
I'm thankful for you
I've never had nothing so real