

Take A Look At Yourself

REYKO

Your words cut like the sharpest knife
Your eyes can pierce right through my heart
The moves you make are always planned
Your actions speak a thousand lies

But I know that's part of who you are
But I know that's part of who you are

Take a look at yourself
When you try to explain
All the demons crawling out of your head
Take a look at yourself
No one here is to blame
For the poison running inside your veins

The more you scream the more I see
Your real self in front of me
Don't bother making one more scene
There's nothing left you could reveal

'Cause I know by now that's who you are
'Cause I know by now that's who you are

Take a look at yourself
When you try to explain
All the demons crawling out of your head
Take a look at yourself
No one here is to blame
For the poison running inside your veins

Take a look at yourself
When you try to explain
All the demons crawling out of your head
Take a look at yourself
No here is to blame
For the poison running inside your veins

No one here is to blame
No one here is to blame
But you