

Alone

Rhys Lewis

Do you ever feel like running away
Leaving your life behind and starting again?
Do you ever feel like running away?
And if you left the first light, where would you go?
Would you follow the sun and head for the coast?
And if you left the first light, where would you go?

'Cause some days I wake up full of all this fear
Wishing that I was anywhere but here

I'm craving for the freezing cold of an ocean
To be somewhere lost in a moment
Out there on my own
In a darkness
That only starlight reaches
A world away and dreaming
In a place that no one knows
'Cause I feel like being alone

Alone
Alone
Alone

Are you scared you started living too late?
That you should've been making better mistakes?
Are you scared you started living too late?

'Cause some days I wake up full of all this fear
Wishing that I was anywhere but here

I'm craving for the freezing cold of an ocean
To be somewhere lost in a moment
Out there on my own
In a darkness
That only starlight reaches
A world away and dreaming
In a place that no one knows
'Cause I feel like being alone

Alone
Alone
Alone

Alone
Alone
Alone
Alone

Do you ever feel like running away?
Leaving your life behind and starting again?
Do you ever feel like running, running, running, running away?

(Alone
Alone
Alone
Alone)