

Maybe I Will Learn

Rhys

How many times must a girl's heart break
Before she finally learns
That every single word they say is fake
And when they leave it burns
I've got nothing left so you can take it
Promise me you'll tell me when you're done
But if you find some hope you better break it
Cause baby I don't like what I've become

I don't like the silence sleeping in between us
I don't like the feeling when you make me jealous
I don't like the weakness, I don't like to lie
Hate the way you close down everytime I cry
Everytime I wanna talk you make it so impossible
Even when I'm innocent you're holding me responsible
Strip another piece of me, take away my dignity
Never show me sympathy
And maybe I will learn
Maybe I will learn

How many fires must a girl walk through
Before it finally rains
Will she wake up on the other side
Once the water drains
Tell me all this fighting has a meaning
Cause I can't find the point of what we've done
If you care enough you better leave me
Cause baby I don't like what I've become

I don't like the silence sleeping in between us
I don't like the feeling when you make me jealous
I don't like the weakness, I don't like to lie
Hate the way you close down everytime I cry
Everytime I wanna talk you make it so impossible
Even when I'm innocent you're holding me responsible
Strip another piece of me, take away my dignity
Never show me sympathy
And maybe I will learn
Maybe I will learn

I don't like the silence sleeping in between us
I don't like the feeling when you make me jealous
I don't like the weakness, I don't like to lie
Hate the way you close down everytime I cry
Everytime I wanna talk you make it so impossible
Even when I'm innocent you're holding me responsible
Strip another piece of me, take away my dignity
Never show me sympathy
And maybe I will learn
Maybe I will learn