

Somewhere

Rick Springfield

Tonight, you cried out I heard your call from the child inside your soul
An SOS heaven help the sender
And tonite I wish we weren't so far apart Because the beating of this heart it telling you, you can't surrender

I know it's hard for you, you know it's hard for me
If you can keep believing there's a place I know someday we'll be

Somewhere in the silent morning
Somewhere out beyond the sea of blue
There is a dream that's calling Somewhere there is a place for me and you Me and you

So near, I watch the city lights go out And I know without a doubt that you and I tonight somehow have spoken
And here, across the miles so far away
I cross my heart and pray that a promise made will not be broken

The words are in my head, but they're hard for me to say Sometimes alone the power of what I feel can take my breath away

And if the wait's too long there let your heart be strong there And may the love reign over you.....
