

I'm Starting Over

Ricky Van Shelton

I know you're surprised to see me here tonight
But I've done some thinking today
I was wrong to me but that's what it took to see
Just what I was throwing away

I'm starting over right here and now
If you let me I know we can make it this time I know how To hold you and give you what I should have been
I'm starting over loving you again

So before you go close the door on someone who lied before
Look closer and I think you'll see a change
The fool in me is gone and the man wants to come home
To wake up for all those happy yesterdays

I'm starting over right here and now
I'm starting over loving you again