

Helpless

Rico Blanco

The morning wakes
I find myself entangled
Envisions of your warm embrace
I pour some coffee
And slowly swirl in memories
Of the night we watched the stars fade into space

I'm addicted to your
Tender kisses and it's keeping me up all night
I didn't expect that I'd be
So affected every time you look me in the eyes
I become so helpless, helpless

Day moves along
The symptoms only aggravate like
Wishing for a passerby
To stop a while
And listen to my story of
How much brighter you've made my life

I'm addicted to your
Tender kisses and it's keeping me up all night
I didn't expect that I'd be
So affected every time you look me in the eyes
I become so helpless, helpless

...