End Game

Ride

Looking back, when I try to remember
Looking back, when I try to remember
I thought that we had something
I thought that we had something
Looking back, when I try to remember
Looking back, when I try to remember
I thought that we had something
I thought that we had something

But you are looking at a different picture
Of two parties, but only one victor
If that's the game, of course we can play it
Forever changed, it's a shame to say it
The end game gives me no pleasure
It's served cold, and it's served forever
That's the way it's got to be
You've killed yourself stone dead to me

Looking back, when I try to remember
Looking back, when I try to remember
I thought that we had something
I thought that we had something
Looking back, when I try to remember
Looking back, when I try to remember
I thought that we had something
I thought that we had something

What went wrong?
What is wrong with you?
What went wrong?
What is wrong with you?
What went wrong?
What is wrong with you?
What went wrong?
What is wrong with you?
What went wrong?
What is wrong with you?
What went wrong?
What is wrong with you?
What went wrong?
What is wrong with you?
What went wrong?
What is wrong, wrong with you?

Looking back, when I try to remember
Looking back, when I try to remember
I thought that we had something
I thought that we had something
I thought that we had something
I thought that we had something
I thought that we had something
I thought that we had something
