

Without Thinking

Right Said Fred

Without thinking her eyes are on your mind
Without thinking you while away the time
Hoping she won't ever wonder if you care enough
She walks in through the front door and your whole day brighten s up

Without thinking you always buy for two
Without thinking it's happening to you
Tonight you're leaving early cos she says she's gonna cook
You walk in the front door and her smile has got you hooked

She's the one I needed, knows where I've come from
She can look me in the eye and know just what I
Know just what I want, she knows just what I want

Without thinking she's natural in your arms
Without thinking nothing breaks the calm
It's too late and you're too tired work has got you down
She gives you a back rub and you're slowly coming round

She's the one I needed, knows where I've come from
She can look me in the eye and know just what I
Know just what I want, she knows just what I want
You know, she wants, she wants yer
You know, she wants, she wants yer

She's the only one for me that's right
She's the only one for me tonight
She's the one for me, she's the one for me
She's the one for me, she's the one for me
That's right

She's the one I needed, knows where I've come from
She can look me in the eye and know just what I
Know just what I want, she knows just what I want
