

Worthless Love

Right Said Fred

Your worthless love, shallow water
Shining eyes, never true
A sweet, sweet smile that told no story
Your selfish heart beat just for you

Where was the strength to fight for love?
Where was the energy it takes?
How could you look me in the eyes and lie and walk away
Leaving while my lonely heart breaks

Your worthless love, had no currency
Your worthless love made me cry
I hear your voice still in the morning
I still love you but I wonder why

Where was the strength to fight for love?
Where was the energy it takes?
How could you look me in the eyes and lie and walk away
Leaving while my lonely heart breaks

When the shit hit the fan you were gone
'Cause thinking of you is what you do
While you were setting fire to bridges, I was drowning
Was there anything about you that was true?
'Cause when the shit hit the fan what did you do?

Worthless love, worse than no love
Worthless love, what a pointless ride
Being fooled by a child like you was so easy
'Cause I trusted you, thought you'd be there at my side

Your worthless love, love's poor relation
Your worthless love, love's crippled twin
In the hands of one like you love died so easily
You emptied it of meaning and then just caved in

How could you look me in the eyes and lie and walk away
Leaving while my lonely heart breaks

Where was the strength to fight for love?
Where was the energy it takes?
How could you look me in the eyes and lie and walk away
Leaving while my lonely heart breaks
Leaving while my lonely heart breaks