

Cascading down this road again
Remembering every word you said
I hold your face like I do your ghost
This hollow life, I have nothing
I feel this isn't inside
Inside is where you've hid your life
Chasing this burden
That wasn't for my life

This pressure is way too much
I'm losing myself
These thoughts of fire surround my heart
And comfort me

Can't you see what I've become?
Please, Father, forgive me
Lord, I come before you

Can you taste it, his victory
What I was is now finished
Forcing this pain away
God come into this world
Can you taste it
His victory
What I was is now finished

We will never be shaken!...
