

Drop Everything

Riley Clemmons

I can't catch my breath
Caught in a stress
It's too much noise
Can't hear my own voice

Taking its tow
Got a grip on my soul
All these chaos and crazy
I'm drowning lately

It's scaring me
All the weight I'm carrying
Too much to hold, I got to let go
I got to let go

Drop everything
Shut the door, I got to hear myself think
There's a peace You can give to me, what I need
I've been talking too much but now I'm listening
Drop everything, drop everything
Now I'm listening
Drop everything
I've been talking too much but now I'm listening

'Ve been here before
Shot me down to the floor
Walls closing in
On the edge of the end

It's breaking me
I just want to be set free
Too much to hold, I got to let go
I got to let go

Drop everything
Shut the door, I got to hear myself think
There's a peace You can give to me, what I need
I've been talking too much but now I'm listening
Drop everything, drop everything
Now I'm listening
Drop everything
I've been talking too much but now I'm listening

All of the noises and all of the voices
Too many choices keep chaining me down 'cause
My mind keeps facing but I got to face it
All that I'm chasing is breaking me!
I've been talking too much but now I'm listening

Drop everything
Shut the door, I got to hear myself think
There's a peace You can give to me, what I need
I've been talking too much but now I'm listening
Drop everything, drop everything
Now I'm listening
Drop everything
I've been talking too much but now I'm listening
