

In a Truck Right Now

Riley Green

His little feet can't reach the pedal so Daddy works the gas and brakes

Nine years old, "10 and 2," tryin' everything to keep it straight

Dreamin' he's Dale Earnhardt, outside of some little town

Somewhere in a truck right now

Worked all summer for those mud tires, some tint, and a three inch lift

Tryin' to catch a buzz from a couple Buds they stole from Daddy's fridge

Bed full of buddies, a cab full of smoke and a cooler loaded down

Somewhere in a truck right now

There's freedom in the headlights, and Hank comin' out the dash
Left arm out the window, and straight pipes out the back

There's a good ole boy like me out there, just proud to be drivin' around

Somewhere in a truck right now

17, got his daddy's keys, he knows the trouble he's in

'Cause that piece of Heaven ridin' shotgun's supposed to be home by 10:00

But it's way past midnight, parked on the edge of town

Somewhere in a truck right now

There's freedom in the headlights, and Hank comin' out the dash
Left arm out the window, and straight pipes out the back

There's a good ole boy like me out there, just proud to be drivin' around

Somewhere in a truck right now

Somewhere in a truck right now

When I close my eyes, I go there in my mind

And I'm rollin' through those Alabama pines

Somewhere in a truck right now

There's freedom in the headlights, and Hank comin' out the dash
Left arm out the window, with straight pipes out the back

There's a good ole boy like me out there, just proud to be drivin' around

Somewhere in a truck right now

Somewhere in a truck right now

Somewhere in a truck right now

Somewhere in a truck right now
