

Everyone And Everything

Ringo Starr

Everybody, where you at?
Time to meet your greatness
Take that power, throw it to the world
Let's see what you can do
It's getting harder to unplug
We're all drowning in content
Let's hope we wake up real soon

Take a walk along the ocean
Make a moment last
Show an act of kindness
Don't expect it back
We could learn to be forgiving
Maybe teach someone the same
Everything needs changing today

Looks like a movie scene
I saw on HBO
Something about a warning
That we're headed towards the danger zone
One eye up, one eye down
Who's looking ahead?
Let's not wait to see what happens next

We could try to make life better
Or we can all just disappear
There's at least a million reasons
No one wants to hear
We can't wait for tomorrow
And we just can't look away
Everything needs changing today

Take a walk along the ocean
Make a moment last
Show an act of kindness
Don't expect it back
We could learn to be forgiving
Maybe teach someone the same
Everything needs changing today
Everyone and everything needs saving today
