

The Guardians

Rise to Fall

Located in strategic places, they've been watching us from the very beginning Witnesses of all the calamities, have remained silent, until no w
Free from the agonizing prison of time
They endure the most fearsome storms while the world crumbles around They are protecting the map of life from all the invaders Their power may be subtle, but it's mighty as the most
The key to wisdom enclosed within the rock, the key to open the book of times, the history of the world Watchful eyes made of stone, they're the guardians of the globe
Every place has its own, they're the guardians of the globe
