

Breakout

Rising Insane

I might say my mind is gone
Still I know where my heart belongs

Locked up, this misery
In sound I still can feel free
Though I feel like my mind is gone
Still I know where my heart belongs

Hang on, lend me your ears
I'll show you how, no need to fear
It's a phrase, just a line away
Open your eyes, speak to me

It's the air that we breathe into our lungs
It's the medicine that is keeping us alive
You can take all that I have
Turn my world upside down
And I might say my mind is gone
Still I know where my heart belongs

No, no
You'll never mess this, you'll never mess this

You can take all that I have
Turn my world upside down
And I might say my mind is gone
Still I know where my heart belongs

Feeling the beat inside your head
Don't you notice
Feeling it moving through your chest
Don't you know it

I am awake but living a nightmare
It's a nightmare
But I know where my heart belongs

No, no
You'll never mess this, you'll never mess this

You can take all that I have
Turn my world upside down
And I might say my mind is gone
Still I know where my heart belongs

I'm awake but living a nightmare
Is this real, do you tell me the truth
But after all that I've seen
At least I still can believe
That we're supposed to be one
So this is where my heart belongs

Run run, running dry in this lockdown
Push push, moving on 'til we breakout
Run run, running dry in this lockdown
Push push, moving on 'til we breakout

Run run, running dry in this lockdown
Push push, moving on 'til we breakout
Run run, running dry in this lockdown
But one day we will gonna breakout
We're gonna breakout
And I know where my heart belongs

I am awake but living a nightmare
Is this real, do you tell me the truth
But after all that I've seen
At least I still can believe
That we are supposed to be one
So this is where my heart belongs
