

Last Fragments

Rising Insane

I'm holding on to what is left in my heart
To keep myself away from falling apart
I'm getting lost inside a mess of broken feelings
Holding on until the end, to our last fragments

Sometimes there is no happy ending
Only a goodbye and maybe see you in heaven
I have buried the lies, buried the truth, buried everything about me
So there is nothing left of me
I close my eyes, feel the emptiness inside
Because you left a space

I'm holding on to what is left in my heart
To keep myself away from falling apart
I'm getting lost inside a mess of broken feelings
Holding on until the end, to our last fragments

I still feel it in my bones, the grief has become a part of me
A former stranger, a new companion
Caught in a haze, trapped in a maze
I can't keep grieving, but there's nothing to replace
The warmth bleeding from your heart
Radiate to share your love
Give me a sign, so I can feel your spirit here

There are pictures that I retrieve
To go along with my disease
Of being helplessly lost
In this world without you

I'm holding on to what is left in my heart
To keep myself away from falling apart
I'm getting lost inside a mess of broken feelings
Holding on until the end, to our last fragments