

New Day

Rising Insane

Your feet carry you far into the night
Day's gone, you missed all of your chances
She won't come Home
He won't let go
We are all not where we want to

We make mistakes, but erase them as we face our fate
So close your eyes, go to sleep, open up, there is a new day

We make up our minds today
And set them free for what we really need
Open up and you will see that there is more then you could ever be
Close your eyes, go to sleep, open up, there is a new day

This noise is dragging you far into the night
Echoes from the past still haunts you

We all fade away, fade away till we're little heaps of dust
Tiny pieces, meant to be the ones

Come take my hand, we are for sure it's not the end
We fix what's broken
New day is not made for leaving

For every day I tried to hold on to the past
And I feel so numb
Don't want to go back
No I'll never look back
Come take my hand and we'll reach for the new day
Cause I have felt so numb

Don't want to go back
No I'll never look back

We make up our minds today
And set them free for what we really need
Open up and you will see that there is more then you could ever
be
Close your eyes, go to sleep, open up, there is a new day