

Clear cracks in my facade
Each one a cause to leave
Am I, am I so far away from it
Stabs in my bleeding heart
Each makes me fall apart
I try, I try, I try to keep myself alive

Clear cracks in my facade
Each one a death of me
And now this is the breaking down of my remains

Lonely and lost like a ship wrecked at sea
With every breath it's getting clear to me
Holy as a saint could be
We've got lost together, torn forever (Lost together, torn forever!)

Watching the days go by
Stay down with hopes up high
Am I, am I so far away from this
Have faith and call by time
Oh thanks for this good advice
'Cause you forget that everything's lost in faith
I focused all my strength
Could have made the first few steps
But how the hell shall I bear this to the bitter end

Lonely and lost like a ship wrecked at sea
With every breath it's getting clear to me
Holy as a saint could be
I am broken like porcelain

No there is nothing time won't take away, won't take away
But this has been to soon
There must be something to heal my pain, heal my pain
Am I just born to lose?

(Kill me! Kill me! Kill me!
Am I just born to lose?)

Lonely and lost like a ship wrecked at sea
With every breath it's getting clear to me
Holy as a saint could be
We've got lost together, torn forever (lost together, torn forever)
No there is nothing time won't take away, won't take away
We've got lost together, torn forever
There must be something to heal my pain
I am broken like porcelain