

Running Wheel

Rising Insane

Do you see misty shades crawling up there from the hill?
The sun has died 10 years ago and no one gives a damn shit
Do you miss the light that led you out of here some years ago?
Before the lucid dreaming was the only way to carry on

Forget the Promised Land
Nothing will be great again
What the hell is happening?
Forget all what you've been told
Nothing is the same after it broke
Apart - And we are drifting away

Away from the last humanity in us
Away from the last empathy in us
Away from all the values that
My father told me when I was a kid

Do you see misty shades crawling up from the hill?
And we're walking straight to fall
Do you miss the light that led you here?
We're kept in a running wheel of gold

Wake up, wake up from your dreamworld
Do you see the signs apart?
We carry the weight of our choices that weight that is torturing because we're noiseless
So let's make some fucking noises

Do you see misty shades crawling up from the hill?
And we're walking straight to fall
Do you miss the light that led you here?
We're kept in a running wheel of gold

We keep on walking straight to the past
Falling through a loop hole again and again

My mind explodes, pieces of my heart get lost in the dark, will
I fall all apart
Will it ever be the same again, ever be a way to feel like it's just an itch in my back

Do you see misty shades crawling up from the hill?
And we're walking straight to fall
Do you miss the light that led you here?
Kept in a running wheel of gold