I've found the place I long to be Safe in Your arms, dropping my guard
Where patience waits, where love redeems
Oh my soul, where else would I go?

You help me and You hold me tight
And even the dark to You is light

You took all of my pieces and parts
You build the door to my heart
You are a home for me
And I will give all of my questions and reasons
All of my hope to believe that
You are a home to me

You are my search, the treasure found
Strength of my hope, oh, where else would I go?

You help me and You hold me tight
Even the dark to You is light
Oh, You help me and You hold me tight
Even the dark to You is light

You took all of my pieces and parts
You build the door to my heart
You are a home for me
And I will give all of my questions and reasons
All of my hope to believe that
You are a home for me, oh, oh, oh

And everywhere I go that's where I find You
Everywhere I go that's where You are
And everywhere I go that's where I find You, oh woah
And everywhere I go that's where You are

You took all of my pieces and parts
You build the door to my heart
You are a home for me
And I will give all of my questions and reasons
All of my hope to believe that
You are a home for me, oh
You took all of my pieces and parts
You build the door to my heart
You are a home for me
Oh, I will give all of my questions and reasons
All of my hope to believe that
You are a home for me

And everywhere I go that's where I find You
Everywhere I go that's where You are, oh
And everywhere I go that's where I find You, God
Everywhere I go that's where You are, oh
And everywhere I go that's where I find You, Jesus
And everywhere, everywhere I go that's where You are
That's where You are
Oh, everywhere I go that's where I find You
And everywhere I go that's where You are

That's where You are
That's where You are

And everywhere I go that's where I find You
And everywhere I go that's where You are
