

So Good

Rita Springer

In the flash of a moment when everything changes
If you're not holding on tight, it can be dangerous
The heart is like glass, fragile to break
And you can feel strong until you lose all your strength

And I will remind my soul
Hang on and don't let go
It's always dark before
The light starts to shine
Down in the valley low
There's still a greater hope
He's always in control
He's always good

Nothing's for certain, chaos can happen
But there is a peace that's beyond understanding
I can sing in the storm, find songs in the fire
I see every chain break when I run to the Father, oh yes

And I will remind my soul
Hang on and don't let go
It's always dark before
The light starts to shine
'Cause down in the valley low
There's still a greater hope
He's always in control
He's always good

My God is good, good, so good
That will never change
My God is good, good, so good
Pain won't steal my praise
My God is good, good, so good
That will never change
My God is good, good, so good
Pain won't steal my praise
Yeah, yeah, yeah

And I will remind my soul
Hang on and don't let go
It's always dark before
The light starts to shine
Oh, 'cause down in the valley low
There's still a greater hope
He's always in control
He is always good

He is always good (My God is good, good, so good)
And He is always good (That will never change)
He is always, He is always good (My God is good, good, so good)
He is always good (Pain won't steal my praise)

And my God is good, good, so good
That will never change
My God is good, good, so good
