

You Remain the Same

Rita Springer

Your ways are better than mine
You always have perfect timing
There's not a thought in my mind
That can change, what you feel for me
Your ways are better than mine
You always have perfect timing
There's not a thought in my mind
That can change, what you feel for me

You remain the same, You never change
You remain the same, You never change

We walk, run if we have to
To come where the waters are clear
We jump into your love
Because you remain the same, you never change
You remain the same, you never change for me
Your love is deep and it's wide
I couldn't climb its height if I tried
There's no place I could hide
Where your love wouldn't come and find me

You remain the same, you never change
You remain the same, you never change

We walk, run if we have to
To come where the waters are clear
We jump into your love
Because you remain the same, you never change
You remain the same, you never change for me

No mountain too high, no valley too low
No sorrow too deep that you don't know
No arrow too fast, no struggle outlasts
You're stronger than that, stronger than that
No mountain too high, no valley too low
No sorrow too deep that you don't know
No arrow too fast, no struggle outlasts
You're stronger than that, stronger than that
Stronger than that, stronger than that

You remain the same, you never change
You remain the same, you never change
We walk, run if we have to
To come where the waters are clear
We jump into your love
Because you remain the same, you never change
We walk, run if we have to
To come where the waters are clear
We jump into your love
Because You remain the same, you never change
You remain the same, you never change
You remain the same, you never change for me
