I couldn't help but spit and spit, keepin' repeating too many damns Gotta let my eyes watch too many ends
Outside was a whole battlefield so I bring out the chopper
Every night inside me I quietly fight with myself
My heart pounds, my colleagues stab me in the back
While saying that I became a moron after joining a company

Yeah fuck you I'm an idol, yeah yeah I'm an idol
At one time I hated it but now I love to get that title
When I come out on broadcast it's all over, I'm different from those who are corrupted
Now now I'm completely acknowledged and I just do me
Whether I'm an idol or an artist, to be honest, it's not important
Your attention when you look at me, that was all just me
Stuck to the title and hung from a modifier
Listen well, time is passing, the rap of a bastard who's gotten a little sma rter
It isn't these words, wordplay, it's just a warplay the world plays
Again we fight just like soldiers, errday
Yeah I walk properly when I risk my life on top of the beat
The today when I'm singing this song is my second birthday
My buddies the way you taught me, the confidence you got me
Was more than 'Rarri, Lambo, Mercy, Maserati you got me?
Now just come give me an XO, go bring your next soul
An endless cynical smile but I'm Rimbaud, your time sent from hell BOOM!

In the moment of my failure
Will someone hold my hand?
In the moment when I come down from the stage
Will that person be next to me?
Just tell me that I can survive
In this cold world, just feel my vibe
I know one day at a time
The sun gon' shine

In the moment of my failure

In the moment when I come down from the stage
