

Nothing In Return

ROAM

Sacrifice and compromise
Bridges that I'm yet to find on my own
But they're not too far from home
I've got shoes bigger than my own to fill, and most days I feel like I never will.
But I'm still hungry

I tried but I failed because every time I close my eyes
I saw my self in retrospective,
I saw myself through tired eyes.
I gave up everything for this and got back nothing in return
Now everything we ever missed was everything we never learnt

I took back everything, and tried to see,
the way we looked at everything so carelessly.
Is it obvious I'm nervous with this one?

I tried but I failed because every time I close my eyes
I saw my self in retrospective,
I saw myself through tired eyes.
I gave up everything for this and got back nothing in return
Now everything we ever missed was everything we never learnt

I worry,
But I'm still hungry

I tried but I failed because every time I close my eyes
I saw my self in retrospective,
I saw myself through tired eyes.
I gave up everything for this and got back nothing in return
Now everything we ever missed was everything we never learnt

I worry,
But I'm still hungry