

Come Back Clean

Rob Baird

I'm not the kind to give it all away
I hate the taste of tears and the burning shame
If you're thinking that you're done with me
You better know that I always come back clean

Guess you don't know what to think about me
Is it ever enough the burning flame
So if you thinking you wanna run with me
You better know that I always come back clean
I always come back clean

I believe it, any fool can see it
That was all before
Ain't no leaving, ain't no reason
Always looking for more, looking for more

I believe it, any fool can see it
That was all before
Ain't no leaving, ain't no reason
Always looking for more, looking for more

Baby tell me what you need
I don't have time for breaking things
So don't you go giving up on me
Cause now you know I always come back clean
I always come back clean