

Right Here

Rob Mills

No one makes me smile
Laugh or even cry
The way that you do
So tell me that there's others
And tell me no more lies
'Cause baby I will be true

If love is what we're making
Then tell me why you're faking

But when your world stops turning
And your walls fall down
I'll be by your side
And when your dreams are burning
Down to the ground
There's nothing left to fear
You should know
I'll be right here

You're lying next to me
The truth, I cannot see
What lies behind those eyes, baby

If love is what we're making
Then why is my heart breaking

But when your world stops turning
And your walls fall down
I'll be by your side
And when your dreams are burning
Down to the ground
There's nothing left to fear
You should know
That baby

Every single mistake, I take it back to make it right again
The love we shared and memories
Each time that someone speaks your name
I start to think that I was wrong
'Cause in my arms you now belong
I'll hold on