

I Believe It

Rob Thomas

I got a feeling, and I cannot stop it
I got a rhythm running through my blood
It's pounding in my head, beating like a drum
Pray for milk and honey 'cause it just might come
Standing in the shadow of the promised land
Tell me where to find it, and I'll never let it go again

Hey, it's alright
Because it feels bad now, but it's only getting better

Hey, I believe it, hey, I believe it, hey, I believe it
Hey, I believe it, hey, I believe it, hey, I believe it

I wanna go back to the sugar candy
When I could feel it melting in my mouth
I long for better days, need to level out
Need to sing it louder, can you hear me now?
We'll start a rising, bottle the lightning
Feed the fire, feels like we're climbing

Up just a little more, up just a little more

Hey, I believe it, hey, I believe it, hey, I believe it
Hey, I believe it, hey, I believe it, hey, I believe it

Just a little more, up just a little more
We go up just a little more, up just a little more
Just a little more, up

I wanna tear it down and start all over
I wanna try to forget everything I know
I am a winter in a summer costume
I am a summer in a winter coat
I am a little piece of everything I've shown

Hell, you gotta learn how to let it in
Try to love yourself and then you'll never be alone again

Hey, I believe it, hey, I believe it, hey, I believe it
Oh, hey, I believe it, hey, I believe it, hey, I believe it

Alright, alright, alright
Hey, I believe it, hey, I believe it, hey, I believe it
Hey, na-na-na-na-na-na
Hey, I believe it, hey, I believe it, hey, I believe it
'Cause it feels bad now, but it's only getting better, hey
