

Steady

Rob Thomas

Take back that face you made your bed
I got nothing on me I can loan you
Well I guess you're lost I called your number
You don't want no one else to find you
You're all alone in a quiet room
Breaking off the pieces you can't use
Realize you'll make it through
You know the way
You just can't believe it

Grown up and you still don't get it
Life goes the way you let it
You'll never get straight if you can't get steady
Stand up you're ready
Break down it's a little too heavy
Man, you feel lost already
You'll never get straight if you can't get steady
Life goes the way you let it

Take back your words and all you've got
Are some half assed thoughts
You let define you
I just can't wait til you remember
I can't wait til it unwinds you
You're coming down now you gotta choose
A better life or a tighter noose
Don't wait soon you'll discover
One of these things is not like the other

Grown up and you still don't get it
Life goes the way you let it
You'll never get straight if you can't get steady
Stand up you're ready
Break down it's a little too heavy
Man, you feel lost already
You'll never get straight if you can't get steady
Life goes the way you let it

And you'll never get straight if you can't get steady
Shed all your skin swallow your pride
Run to your future with nothing to hide
The demon within the beautiful lie
Is all an illusion your life passed you by

Grown up and you still don't get it
Life goes the way you let it
You'll never get straight if you can't get steady
Stand up you're ready
Break down it's a little too heavy
Man, you feel lost already
You'll never get straight if you can't get steady
Life goes the way you let it

You'll never get straight if you can't get steady
You'll never get straight if you can't get steady
Stand up stand up
You can't get steady
