When I Cry Today

Robben Ford

Something has happened to me
I'm lost and unrequited
The things that I believe in
Have all been taken away

Your love for me has drifted
It's hard for you to admit it
You say that it's just a phase
And you think that I should stay

You're telling me of things we'll see tomorrow
But will you hear me cry
When I cry today

Gone the lovers bliss
That once we had together
I reach out and touch your body
But I can't touch your mind

I want your company
Do I have to demand it
I find out where you've gone to
By the notes that you leave behind

You're telling me of things we'll see tomorrow
But will you hear me cry
When I cry today

Lonely in my world
Though goodbye is still unspoken
I hear the lies
And alibis
For leaving me stranded
In my loneliness

You're telling me of things we'll see tomorrow
But will you hear me cry
When I cry today
