

The Hurting Game

Robbie Dupree

Too many secrets, too many lies
In the silence, she speaks with her eyes
Said love's to blame when she lost her heart
In the hurting game

A fool to believe him, last one to know
He was lying, she couldn't let go
Said love is pain when he broke her heart
In the hurting game

How many nights have you wanted to say
"I'd give it all up to find love someday"?
To find love someday

So many lessons you never learned
You stopped counting the times you've been burned
You touch the flame and you're back again
In the hurting game

When you touch the flame, you'll be back again
In the hurting game