

Trust

Robert Gasper

My heart's beating faster, my head try'na catch up
My heart needs to feel you, you but you back up
Let your guard down, just lay it on the table
I'm willing and able to try to mend the
Broken pieces of my heart
Fall like raindrops
Broken pieces from the start but I can't
Break apart
I need you, love
Believe you, love
I need you, love
Believe you are
Trust, how can I trust love
Heart say no, my head said let it go
My heart needs to feel you but you back up
Babe, let your guard dow, just set it on the table
I'm willing and able to try to mend the
Broken pieces of my heart
Fall like raindrops
Broken pieces from the start but I can't
Break apart
I need you, love
Believe you, are
I need you, love
Believe you are
Trust
Trust
Ohohohoh
How can I trust love
Baby, I need your trust I need your love I
Just wanna feel you in my heart I
Missing you love
I need your trust I need your love I
Just wanna feel you in my heart I
Missing you love
I need you love, believe you are, I need you love, believe you are
I need you love, believe you are, I need you love, believe you love
I need you love, believe you are Trust, trust
How can I trust your love
Put me back together and mend my heart
Put me back together and mend my heart
Put me back together and mend my heart

One of the quickest ways to get it together and have ones heart mended
Is to first acknowledge that you've been broken
The pain and the agony of a broken heart can do either two things
It can make you bitter, kill you, or propel you to a better place
At some point there should be some desire to put all the pieces back together r
You cannot allow the things that crushed you or the things that broke your heart to edit your prophecy
Realize no conspiracy formed against you can prosper