Compass Or Map

Robin Thicke

Oh I got a problem
Rising deep from my bones
Years of hibernation
I can't wait to be exposed
Leaping from the darkness
To feel the new morning light
It howls like a jet plane and echoes through the night

Oh how you done it
You woke up some stuff
We gon' have to talk about it
Round here things might get rough
You poked a sleeping giant
That ain't ate in months
And when it opens it's eyes
First thing is gonna run him through

Welcome to my jungle
Welcome to my world
I'm no longer bored
And you're much stronger a girl
I'm not barracuda
And you're not Thunder-cat
And we're at war
We're at war with no compass or map
No compass or map

No boundary fences, no ceilings or doors
No blanks or dull knives
Just shrieks and unheard roars
Fake, fake friendly faces
Time, time safe for basis
No emergency numbers
No way to fake the erases
No, no bell to guide you
Just blue, black, and stars
Wrapped us in angry earth
Manipulated your heart
Now, this one's for you babe
Under high fortress sky
Better follow your heart
Go undiscovered, you'll die

Welcome to my oyster
Don't you touch my pearl
I used to be your J-Bird
And you used to be my squirrel
Now I'm barracuda
And you're Thunder-cat
(We don't need no)
(We don't need no)

I got respect for my enemies
In the shadows they lie

In the shadows we live
And in the shadows we cry
And the fashion of virtue
Is now a hopeless appeal
Cause love is corsair a side
That you can't keep what you steal
You can't keep what you steal

Welcome to my Milky
You can't change my universe
The things that won't last
We always seem to put first
Now I'm out to live this,
Yo baby kay yay
And we could end here this war
We could end this here war
We could end this war
We could end this war
We don't need no
We don't need no
We don't need no compass or map
We don't need nobody
All we need is you and me
We'll work it out, baby
