

Now or Never Again

Rocco

Staring at your silhouette, what do I say?
Every step that I take seems to hold me back
I pray, I hope for something back
You're all I got, I'm wonderin' if you love me not
We were seventeen watching TV screens
When you looked at me

Now she's waiting patiently for you to say it
On the grass that you lay in, it's now or never again
She's already taken your heart so just shut up and say it
Just let her know, that you love her so

Feet dipped in the swimmin' pool
Just remembered that you looked so cool
Ninety degrees, and this close to me, oh, boy
Oh, what does this mean?
Do I wait just a second longer?
But what if she finds another and slips away
Just let her know, know, know

Now she's waiting patiently for you to say it
On the grass that you lay in, it's now or never again
She's already taken your heart so just shut up and say it
Just let her know, that you love her so

Lights turn off, there's no one else to hold
And you're looking for somebody when the days start getting cold
I'm tired of being last, you know that I am

And now she's waiting patiently for you to say it
On the grass that you lay in, it's now or never again
She's already taken your heart so just shut up and say it
Just let her know, that you love her so