

Don't Tell Me You Do

Rockapella

So you say you've been here, you know me
You really understand.
You've felt the way I feel.
Well sugar, let me say I don't think
You even have a clue of how
You've blown my life apart.
Honey, you got no idea.
Don't tell me you do.
Don't tell me that you cry in you sleep each night.
Don't say you spend each hour wonderin what wasn't right.
Do you stare into the mirror thinkin what
is it you should change?
Do you wake up every mornin, reachin over to find
You ain't there, and you ain't comin back?
You cannot know how this feels.
Don't tell me you do
And you thought this phone call could fix things - could wipe away the guilt you feel. You ask too much.
When you said forever, I guess the forever that you meant must be much shorter than I planned.
Tell
Don't tell me that you cry in you sleep each night.
Don't say you spend each hour wonderin what wasn't right.
Do you stare into the mirror thinkin what
is it you should change?
Do yo ulose yourself in conversation
lookin ahead,
then look up, there ain't nobody there?
You can ask me to say I love you.
I do, and that won't change.
But please don't ask me to say everything's okay, cause it ain't. It just ain't.
Don't tell me that you cry in you sleep each night.
Don't say you spend each hour wonderin what wasn't right.
Do oyou find yourself alone in all the places we used to share?
Do you wake up every mornin, reachin over to find
You ain't there, and you ain't comin back?
You cannot know how this feels.
Don't tell me you do