

The Shortest Path

Rockapella

I begin the night too many hours ahead
A different city light
I dream awake instead

Seen the rising sun
There and back again I'm all around the world but I'm wishing I was with you

You're The Shortest Path to my destination
You're the one I think of
when the day is through;
I'll find my way to you tonight
'cause you can make the wrong turns right What no one else has done makes you the only one

30, 000 feet
breakin clouds above
I'm heading for a home
I could fill with love

I am on repeat staring straight ahead
When I got no window seat
I just think of you instead, cause I know

And I get lost in dreams of you I play this scene out with the perfect line
You lose every doubt
And as we touch down, I wake and it's through You're my solid ground
Time to face the truth

I've come a long long way, but I walk alone
Hear me when I say Your open arms'll bring me home

'cause You're The Shortest Path
to my destination
You're the one I think of
when the day is through;
and You're The Shortest Path in this revelation You're the one who's changing everything I knew
I'll find my way to you tonight
cause you can make the wrong turns right

and anytime I leave I'm stayin with you...