

Change Your Ways

Rockwell

You say you want all the best life has to give
Well, have you considered the price of the life you want to live
Takes more than wishing to make a dream come true
Open your eyes and the answers are there for you
You've got to change your ways
You've got to change, change your ways

You say the systems to blame but if I were you
I'd learn the rules of the game and play it too
Sooner or later you have to realize
You have to take that first step no more alibis
You've got to change your ways
You've got to change, change your ways

If you've got a chip on your shoulder that holds you down
How long will you wait 'till you finally come around
The message is clear it's all up to you to try
Time is so precious don't let the world pass you by
You've got to change your ways
You've got to change, change your ways
Change your ways
Change your ways
Just change your ways
You got to change your ways
